Infrastructure for proper training facilities by SAI

†4736. SHRI JAI PRAKASH AGGARWAL: Will the Minister of YOUTH AFFAIRS AND SPORTS be pleased to state:

whether the Sports Authority of India has established adequate infrastructure to provide proper training facilities to the sportsmen with a view to promote sports activities in the country; and if so, the details thereof as on date regarding such infrastructure developed and being undertaken presently/achievements made and long term plan evolved?

THE MINISTER OF YOUTH AFFAIRS AND SPORTS (SHRI MANI SHANKAR AIYAR): (a) and (b) The Sports Authority of India (SAI) has 6 (six) Regional Centres and 2 (two) Sub-Centres with state-of-the-art infrastructure. The Regional Centres are located at Bangalore, Gandhinagar, Kolkata, Imphal, Bhopal and Sonepat; and the Sub-Centres are located at Guwahati and Lucknow, SAI also operates the Netaji Subhash National Institute of Sports, Patiala which has facilities for training coaches and holding coaching camps. Apart from this, the SAI operates 230 centres across the country for imparting training in various sports disciplines and SAI promotional schemes such as the National Sports Talent Contest Scheme, the Army Boys Sports Company Scheme, the SAI Training Centres Scheme, the Special Area Games Scheme and the Centre of Excellence Scheme. The State-wise distribution of these Centres under the different schemes is given in Statement-I (See below). At present, about 13,000 trainees are covered under these schemes and are being provided with specialized coaching, equipment support, scientific support, nutritious diet and exposure to various competitive events. The strengthening of the SAI sports infrastructure and training facilities is an ongoing process and it is planned to increase the strength of trainees under the SAI's promotional schemes to 50,000 by the end of the 11th Plan period.

The achievements of SAI trainees during the last 5 (five) years at the national and international level is given in Statement-ll.
